Classroom news

From the Library- A big thanks goes out to the students and staff who shared their book requests during the last months. Our soon-to-arrive titles will reflect not only curriculum needs, but the outstanding recommendations of our student readers. Manga titles hit the top of the request list, with graphic novels following close behind. If you're not familiar with these works of sequential art and how they support students' development as readers, check out Gene Yuen Yang's TEDx Talk, "Comics belong in the classroom." We'll also be adding the first of the 2023 Oregon Battle of the Books titles. If you're interested in participating in this reading-based competition, please be sure to let your library person know.
